Located in one of the fastest-growing business centers on the East Coast, lawyers in our Stamford office provides clients both regionally, nationally and internationally with experienced counsel in such areas as securities, information technology, telecommunications, intellectual property, corporate, international, real estate and family law. We opened our Stamford location in 2009 when we combined with Pastore Osterberg LLC.

Clients – ranging from broker-dealers, hedge funds, venture funds, banks, reinsurers and transfer agents, to domestic and international technology and telecommunications firms, to individuals – regularly turn to us when they face complex litigation, arbitration and regulatory matters that need efficient and successful resolution.

Our Stamford team boasts an especially knowledgeable group of litigators who provides clients with a range of services in complex securities, technology, intellectual property and family law matters.

Attorneys in our Stamford office represent clients in:

SECURITIES

We represent major multinational companies—including specialist firms, some of the nation's largest financial institutions, leading derivative brokers and other leading large broker-dealers—in state and federal courts as well as before regulatory entities such as the NASD (now FINRA), the NYSE and the SEC. Because our experience in securities matters, especially FINRA arbitrations, is so extensive, we frequently prevail based upon our knowledge of the process as well as the law. That knowledge comes from handling several of the largest FINRA arbitrations and from previous industry experience. We count among our team the former general counsel/senior vice president/corporate secretary for four broker-dealer subsidiaries of The Bear Stearns Companies Inc., who also spent nine years in the Regulatory Division of the NYSE where he conducted investigations and hearings across a wide spectrum of regulatory matters, including insider trading and market manipulation cases and alleged violations of trading floor regulations applicable to specialists and floor brokers.

INSURANCE

Our Stamford attorneys have handled major reinsurance arbitrations and litigations including matters filed in foreign jurisdictions hosting captive reinsurance companies. We also regularly represent major international insurance companies in disputes critical to their investment holdings.

BANKING

We handle regulatory and litigation disputes for the nation's largest mortgage lenders and defend and prosecute major matters concerning bank conversions. We also serve as counsel to lenders, including counsel for the leading lender in the largest bankruptcy in Connecticut in the past 10 years. We regularly represent some of the largest lenders in the country. Recently, we were retained by one of the nation's largest trust companies in a $4.6 billion matter.

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY AND TECHNOLOGY

We have litigated a wide range of cases for owners and users of intellectual property, including clients in the music, publishing, advertising, television, motion picture and fashion industry as well as large technology and telecommunications companies, including many Internet, satellite, computer software, networking, voice and data companies and start-up ventures. We handle matters involving international and domestic copyright infringement, patent and design patent infringement, trade secret disputes, trademark and trade dress infringement, breaches of entertainment industry contracts, counterfeiting and false advertising.
